COURSE DESCRIPTION

We have designed this course specifically for mental health professionals who wish to enhance their knowledge of significant nuances in clinical method that can help to sustain and deepen the therapeutic process. While some topics we address may be familiar, we emphasize subtleties and perspectives that generally are not offered elsewhere or that need a fresh emphasis and a fuller unpacking. Four senior analysts filter out the best of traditional methods, elaborate the latest ideas about clinical technique, and present thoughtfully integrated approaches to contemporary clinical work. Among the topics to be included are:

- Creating and securing the frame
- Formulating and interpreting unconscious dynamics
- Working with regressed states
- Working with stubborn and subtle resistances
- Containing and interpreting patients' aggression and destructiveness
- Working with dreams
- Understanding and handling erotic transferences
- Dealing with intense countertransference reactions
- Employing "follow-up" interpretations
